Why does Liberia rely on imported petroleum products?

The country relies on imported petroleum products for  $\geq 90\%$  of its energy consumption. This reliance on imports increases energy costs and exposes Liberia to the volatility of global fuel prices. The high cost of imported fuels poses a barrier to energy access, especially for low-income households who struggle to afford electricity services.

How can Liberia improve energy security?

One strategy is to diversify the energy mix by increasing the share of domestic renewable energy sources, such as solar and wind power, for electricity generation. By harnessing these indigenous and sustainable energy resources, Liberia can decrease its reliance on imported fuels and enhance its energy security.

How does Liberia attract private investment?

The government has introduced policies to attract private investment in the energy sector and promote renewable energy development [3,4]. In 2015, the government launched the Liberia Electricity Regulatory Commission (LEC) to provide oversight of the electricity sector and attract private investment.

How much energy does Liberia produce a year?

Liberia also has abundant biomass resources, with estimates suggesting that the government can produce up to 27,452 GWh of electricity from biomass annually. Expanding these resources can provide sustainable and decentralized energy solutions, particularly in rural and remote areas.

What are the challenges to energy access in Liberia?

The primary challenge to energy access in Liberia is the limited and underdeveloped energy infrastructure. The lack of adequate power generation, transmission, and distribution systems contributes to this low access rate. The electrification rate is significantly lower in rural areas, where most of the population resides.

Does Liberia have a good energy situation?

Efforts have been made in recent years to improve Liberia's energy situation. Yet, significant challenges, including financial constraints, inadequate infrastructure, affordability issues, and an outdated energy policy, continue to hinder progress.
